Financial Hardship

Cbos understands that this is a time of uncertainty and financial difficulty for some of our valued members. However, despite recent global events, Cbus is obliged to abide by relevant legislation, including restrictions on fund members accessing their super.

You’re able to access your super once you have reached your minimum retirement age (your preservation age) and have permanently retired, or when you’re age 65 and over regardless of whether you have retired.

But you may be able to access your super earlier due to financial hardship or on compassionate grounds.

Financial hardship

- If you’ve been on eligible Commonwealth Government income support payments for 26 weeks continuously; and
- You’re unable to meet reasonable and immediate family living expenses. For example, you have current bills in arrears and/or outstanding loan repayments and credit card debt. Financial Hardship claims are approved and processed by Cbus.

Compassionate grounds

- To help to pay for medical treatment and/or transport for you or your dependant/s.
- To make a payment on a loan to prevent foreclosure on a mortgage for your principal place of residence.
- To modify a principal place of residence or vehicle to accommodate special needs for you or your dependant/s.
- To pay for palliative care for you or your dependant/s.
- To pay for a funeral of a dependant.

Compassionate grounds claims are approved by the Australian Taxation Office (ATO) and then processed by Cbus.

For more information call the ATO on 13 10 20 for more information or visit their website www.ato.gov.au
