

Important insurance updates

We regularly review the insurance you get through Cbus to make sure you and your family are protected when you need it most. This update will help you understand some important changes to the type of cover you can access and the costs of your cover.

The cost of your insurance is changing

We work hard to keep the costs of your insurance cover as low as possible. From time to time your premiums can go up or down, and from 2 October 2021 the cost of death and total and permanent disablement (TPD) cover is changing.

Some members will see their costs increase, while others will see a decrease. If you've got insurance through Cbus, how much you'll pay for your cover will depend on your age, occupation category and the type of cover you have – check the table below for details.

Why are costs changing?

The building and construction sector has the third highest fatality rate in Australia, so we know how important insurance is for our members and their families. That's why we're one of the few funds that covers members who have high risk jobs (like working at heights).

TPD claims from those in our highest risk categories have increased significantly in recent years. We've accepted around 19 out of every 20 TPD claims made, so this has made it more expensive to provide cover to these members.

As an Industry Super Fund, we only charge what it costs us to provide your cover, and we negotiate carefully with our insurer to make sure we're getting you the best value cover we can. So, while a small increase has been unavoidable for some members, we've been able to negotiate a decrease for others.

Weekly cost per unit of cover

The table below shows how much one unit of cover will cost from 2 October 2021 if you're in an electech occupation category. You can also see how much each unit has gone up or down by (you're most likely to see your premiums decrease).

Age band	Electech
	Death	TPD
15-24	$1.16 (↓$0.06)	$1.29 (↓$0.32)
25-34	$1.21 (↓$0.05)	$1.34 (↓$0.33)
35-49	$1.30 (no change)	$1.62 (↓$0.09)
50+	$1.49 (↑$0.08)	$1.81 (↓$0.05)

Income protection for blue collar workers

If an accident or illness stopped you from working, would you have enough savings to last until you could work again?

Most members are likely to have income protection cover through their current employment arrangements, so it's important to check with your employer, union or a Cbus coordinator. If you've checked and you don't have cover, income protection through Cbus could protect you and your family if something happens and you can't work.

Until now, income protection was only available to those in non-manual or professional occupations, and Sole Trader members. From 2 October 2021, if you're an Industry Super member in a blue collar job (i.e. our manual or electech occupation category) you'll also have access to great-value income protection cover through Cbus, that's designed for the work you do.

Receive a monthly income for up to five years

If you're eligible, income protection cover can give you a monthly income if you can't work because of an accident or illness. Payments can cover up to 85% of your salary (with up to 75% paid to you and 10% going into your super).

Depending on the options you choose, you can be paid after a 30 or 90 day waiting period, for up to 2 or 5 years, giving you and your family financial security and peace of mind. These benefits are paid monthly in arrears.

Apply for cover from 2 October 2021

To apply for income protection cover, log into your account at cbussuper.com.au/login or complete a Change my insurance: Industry Super form, available at cbussuper.com.au/forms.

Before applying, make sure you're not already covered through your employer or enterprise agreement. You can only claim on one policy at a time, so it's not normally worth having two sets of cover.

Visit cbussuper.com.au/insurance-updates for all the details, including how much cover you can get and how much it costs.
